Louis Vuitton paid tribute to the New Europe with its 2006 Louis Vuitton Classic Bohème Run. From Budapest to Prague via Vienna, this extraordinary rally crossed the heart of “Mitteleuropa” (Middle Europe) from September 5 to September 10, 2006.

The event was kicked off with a training session at the legendary « Hungaro Ring » in Budapest, the Hungarian Formula 1 race track. The participants then set off on a tour of 800 kilometres stopping for a ball in Vienna and the grand final in Prague. The prize giving with a display of all participating cars took place in front of the famous castle.

32 spectacular cars, among them beauties from the 1930ies, sports cars from the 1960ies and prototypes from the new millennium, were thus united under the banner of elegance and the spirit of adventure.

Sotheby's International Realty France – Monaco acted as a sponsor for the only Rolls Royce in the field, a Phantom III of Peter Blond, who won the “prix de l'élégance”.
